I am opposed to removal of Morse Code testing for Amateur Radio licensing. Amateur Radio licensees are allowed to build their own transmitting equipment, and should also be required to have the skill necessary to communicate using the simplest and most bandwidth efficient transmission mode.